5. Recalls the resolve of Member States to strengthen technical assistance and enhance technical cooperation and participation in addressing international tax matters;

6. Expresses deep concern about the adverse impacts of the ongoing global financial and economic crisis on development, including on the capacity of developing countries to mobilize resources for development, recognizes that there is a need to promote the recovery, and acknowledges that an effective response to the impacts of the crisis requires timely implementation of all development commitments, including existing aid commitments;

7. Emphasizes the need for more government action and effective, participatory and democratic global economic governance in order to ensure an appropriate regulation of the market, which promotes the public interest, and in this regard recognizes the need to better regulate financial markets, because of their failure to promote economic stability, in order to ensure the safety of the global financial system and to avoid the mismanagement of market risk;

8. Recognizes that a dynamic, inclusive, well-functioning and socially responsible private sector is a valuable instrument for generating economic growth and reducing poverty;

9. Notes that foreign direct investment is a major source of financing for development, and in this regard calls upon developed countries to continue to devise source-country measures to encourage and facilitate the flow of foreign direct investment, inter alia, through the provision of export credits and other lending instruments, risk guarantees and business development services; calls upon developing countries to continue their efforts to create a domestic environment conducive to attracting investments by, inter alia, achieving a transparent, stable and predictable investment climate with proper contract enforcement and respect for property rights; and stresses the importance of enhancing efforts to mobilize investment from all sources in human resources and physical, environmental, institutional and social infrastructure;

10. Reaffirms that international trade can be an engine for development and sustained economic growth, underlines the need to fully harness its potential in that regard, and stresses the importance of upholding a universal, rules-based, open, non-discriminatory and equitable multilateral trading system that contributes to growth, sustainable development and employment, particularly in developing countries;

11. Stresses the need to resist all protectionist and distortive measures and tendencies, especially those affecting developing countries, including tariff, non-tariff and other barriers to trade, in particular agricultural subsidies, and to rectify any such measures already taken, recognizes the right of countries to fully utilize their policy space and flexibilities, consistent with their World Trade Organization commitments, and calls upon the World Trade Organization and other relevant bodies, including the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development, to continue monitoring protectionist measures and to assess their impact on developing countries, and in this regard stresses that a balanced, ambitious, comprehensive and development-oriented outcome of the Doha Development Round of multilateral trade negotiations, in fulfilment of its mandate, would be a major step towards overcoming the above-mentioned protectionist measures;

12. Calls for, in that regard, an early and successful conclusion of the Doha Round with a balanced, ambitious, comprehensive and development-oriented outcome, which would provide a much-needed impetus to international trade and contribute to economic growth and development;

13. Underlines the fact that the fulfilment of all official development assistance commitments is crucial, including the commitments by many developed countries to achieve the target of 0.7 per cent of gross national product for official development assistance to developing countries by 2015 as well as the target of 0.15 per cent to 0.20 per cent of gross national product for official development assistance to least developed countries, and urges developed countries that have not yet done so to fulfil their commitments for official development assistance to developing countries;
