Nations system in the field of environment, which should take into account, within its mandate, the sustainable development needs of developing countries,

Recognizing the need for more efficient environmental activities in the United Nations system, and noting the need to consider possible options to address this need, including through the ongoing informal consultative process on the institutional framework for United Nations environmental activities,

Also recognizing that the current global crises could adversely impact sustainable development and the achievement of the internationally agreed development goals, including the Millennium Development Goals, and emphasizing the need for the mobilization of adequate funding to address their environmental aspects,

Reiterating that capacity-building and technology support to developing countries, in environment-related fields are important components of the work of the United Nations Environment Programme,

Taking note of the report of the United Nations Joint Inspection Unit entitled "Management review of environmental governance within the United Nations system",⁵

1. Takes note of the report of the Governing Council of the United Nations Environment Programme on its twenty-fifth session⁶ and the decisions contained therein;⁷

2. Welcomes the ongoing efforts to shift emphasis from delivery of outputs to achievement of results within its budget and programme of work;

3. Also welcomes the decision to mainstream the Bali Strategic Plan for Technology Support and Capacity-building⁸ as an integral part of the United Nations Environment Programme's Medium-term Strategy for the period 2010-2013,⁹ and stresses the need to advance and fully implement the Bali Strategic Plan with a view to achieving its objectives in the areas of capacity-building and technology support for developing countries and countries with economies in transition;

4. Calls upon Governments and other stakeholders in a position to do so to provide the necessary funding and technical assistance to further advance and fully implement the Bali Strategic Plan for Technology Support and Capacity-building;

5. Takes note with appreciation of the offer of the Government of Indonesia to host the eleventh special session of the Governing Council/Global Ministerial Environment Forum to be held from 24 to 26 February 2010 in Bali, Indonesia;

6. Reaffirms the need to strengthen the scientific base of the United Nations Environment Programme, as recommended by the intergovernmental consultation on strengthening of the scientific base of the Programme, including the reinforcement of the scientific capacity of developing countries, in the area of protection of the environment, including through the provision of adequate financial resources, and in this respect emphasizes the importance of building on the experiences gained from the preparation of different global environmental assessments as well as other relevant developments in this field;

7. Reiterates the need for the United Nations Environment Programme to continue to conduct comprehensive, integrated and scientifically credible global environment assessments, in close consultation with Member States, in order to support decision-making processes at all levels, in the light of the continuing need for up-to-date, scientifically credible, policy-relevant information on environmental change worldwide and in this regard, encourages the Programme to undertake a comprehensive integrated global assessment, leading to the preparation of the fifth report in the Global Environment Outlook series,⁷ which should inform, as appropriate, the strategic directions of the United Nations Environment Programme;

8. Requests relevant United Nations funds, programmes and specialized agencies, and invites the secretariats of the multilateral environmental agreements, to mainstream the Bali Strategic Plan for Technology Support and Capacity-building in their operational activities at country level, with a view to promoting, supporting and facilitating its implementation;

9. Stresses that the financial and economic crisis must not delay the necessary global response to climate change and environmental degradation, taking into account the principle of common but differentiated responsibilities and respective capabilities;

10. Requests the United Nations Environment Programme to deepen its cooperation with related United Nations agencies, regions, subregions and existing South-South cooperation initiatives to develop joint activities and synergies of capacity in advancing South-South cooperation in support of capacity-building and technology support in the context of the Bali Strategic Plan and as reflected in the Medium-term Strategy 2010-2013;

11. Reiterates its invitation to Governments that are in a position to do so to increase their contributions to the Environment Fund;

12. Also reiterates the need for stable, adequate and predictable financial resources for the United Nations Environment Programme, and, in accordance with General Assembly resolution 2997 (XXVII), underlines the need to consider the adequate reflection of all the administrative and management costs of the Programme in the context of the United Nations regular budget;

13. Further reiterates the importance of the Nairobi headquarters location of the United Nations Environment Programme, and requests the Secretary-General to keep the resource needs of the Programme and the United Nations Office at Nairobi under review so as to permit the delivery, in an effective manner, of necessary services to the Programme and to the other United Nations organs and organizations in Nairobi;

14. Decides to include in the provisional agenda of its sixty-fifth session, under the item entitled "Sustainable development", a sub-item entitled "Report of the Governing Council of the United Nations Environment Programme on its eleventh special session".
